

Personality Quiz

Are you an Eeyore or a Little Mary Sunshine?

Find out if you see the world as half full or half empty.

1. When you find the prize inside a cereal box, you...
 - a. Dig it out and say, "What a dinky rip-off!"
 - b. Leave it unopened so that someone else in your family can find it.
 - c. Open it when you finally get to that part of the cereal box and keep it even though it's only a plastic toy because "Hey, a prize is a prize."
2. You wake up most days...
 - a. On the wrong side of the bed, a grumbly grumpus.
 - b. Smack dab in the middle of the bed- in a decently decent mood.
 - c. On the right side of the bed- in a mucho good mood.
3. When a friend disappoints you, you think:
 - a. I KNEW this was gonna happen.
 - b. I didn't think this would EVER happen.
 - c. It'll be fine: She'll apologize later.
4. When everything is going your way...
 - a. You look out for what's about to go wrong.
 - b. You're kinda surprised.
 - c. You're psyched because, hey, that's how it should be.

Here's how you scored:

Mostly As- You always have the feeling that something's about to go wrong. Even when you try, you can't help but dwell on the bad stuff that could happen- ANY SECOND! It might be good for you to have glass-half-full pal, someone who sees how positively great the world is.

Mostly Bs- You don't go around with a lot of expectations one way or the other. You're a realist. You hope for the best but you're ready for the worst. You're not too up, not too down. You're right in the middle.

Mostly Cs- You're a true optimist. You expect all will go swimmingly. And even when it doesn't, you expect things will get better soon enough. It's great to believe that it's all gonna be good, but make sure you try to see yourself and the world as they really are instead of what you want them to be- at least every once in a while.